REPUBLICAN RALLY AT DIXON OPERA HOUSE THIS EVENING

Proof of Illegality of Edwards' Petition

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS FROM THIS DISTRICT
PUBLISHES NAMES OF EVERY ILLEGAL SIGNER ON THE PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE'S PETITION.

DECLARES MR EDWARDS HONOR BOUND TO WITHDRAW

Mr. McKenzie Answers Mr. Edwards' Charge That He Was "Bluffing and Would Put Me Off the Ticket if They Could" By Showing Just How Mr. Edwards Could Have Been Kept From Having His Name on the Ticket—Says Petition Has 100 Illegal Names on It and Is 48 Names Short of Necessary Number.

Elizabeth, Ill., Oct. 29, 1912.
To the Voters of the 13th Congressional District:

My attention has just been called to an interview published in the Dixon News given out by Mr. I. F. Edwards relative to the political situation in this district and more particularly concerning his petition as a candidate, wherein he uses the following language: "That was all a bluff on the part of the newspapers. I know the fellows well enough to know that if there was any way to get my name off the ticket it would have been done. My name is on the ballot, what more is necessary to answer the stories?"

Inasmuch as I stated publicly that the petition is invalid for a failure to comply with the law, in face of the square toed statement by Mr. Edwards, it is necessary now to end this controversy that the facts be published. It is not a pleasant task for me to give this statement to the public for I feel sure that many of the men whose names are on the petition signed the same through inadvertence or ignorance of the law and with no evil intent and some of them have been warm friends of mine and I had a strong feeling that Mr. Edwards, after investigating the petition, would retire from the contest for it was his plain duty to see to it that his petition complied with the law.

To say that the fact that his name is on the ballot answers all criticisms of the petition is of little value for I am alone responsible for allowing his name to remain on the ballot for I would not file objections to the same, feeling that he would withdraw when so advised and if he did not it was for the voters of the district to determine this case at the polls where I cheerfully leave it and shall have nothing further to say.

The following figures speak for themselves, without comment:

To constitute a legal petition in this district it must contain 2 per cent of 30708, the total vote cast in the district at the last general election, held in November 1910, making the required number 614 and repeaters are not recognized by the law nor are the signatures of persons who have voted at a primary election for the same office. A reference to the statutes will substantiate this statement of the law and the above figures may be verified upon inquiry of the various county clerks.

Mr. Edwards has 666 names on his petition, which contains, on its face, but 52 more names than are required to give him a legal right to have his name printed on the ballot.

To assist Mr. Edwards in arriving at a conclusion as to the validity and legality of his petition and in determining whether he will continue as a candidate I submit the following facts which he can easily verify:

Sheets 12 and 13 of his petition were circulated by A. W. Hartong of Rochelle. On sheet 12 the following names appear:

Otto Hadam,
Jens E Dohl,
Theo Haag,
P Larson,
Geo Woods,
I E Travis.

The same six names also appear at the top of sheet 13 of his petition.

Recapitulation.

Rochelle repeaters 6
April primary voters 94

Total illegal signatures 100

It is therefore evident Mr. Edwards is short 48 names of the number required for a valid and legal petition, without taking any advantage whatever of any technicality.

There are many other valid legal objections to the petition to which no reference is here made which could be submitted to Mr. Edwards if they would be of any assistance to him in his deliberations as to the propriety of continuing in the contest.

Respectfully,

JOHN C. MCKENZIE.

JAMES S. SHERMAN
VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN WHO IS DYING.

LIEUT. BECKER MUST DIE FOR MURDER

POLICE OFFICIAL GIVEN SENTENCE IN NEW YORK THIS MORNING.

NUNS AND CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

Ten Orphans and Six Nuns Burned to Death When Texas Orphan Asylum Is Destroyed by Flames.

New York, Oct. 30—Special to Telegraph—Police Lieutenant Becker was sentenced this morning to pay the death penalty by Justice Goff. The convicted grafter and murderer of the gambler, Rosenthal, will pay for his crime with his own life in the electric chair during the week of December 9th. Becker did not do the sensational act that excited the United States, but hired gunmen to murder his foe.

NUNS AND CHILDREN BURN.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 30—Special—Fire that destroyed the St. John's Orphan Asylum here this morning caused the death of ten children and six nuns, who perished miserably, trapped by the flames. Mother Mary, of Cross, and Sister Superior were among the nuns who lost their lives in a heroic attempt to save the children. Many thrilling rescues were made and several nuns were seriously injured by leaping from the building.

HENRY LEBOWICH'S FORTUNATE PURCHASE.

On Saturday, November 2, the people of Dixon and surrounding territory will have another opportunity of purchasing shoes at exceptionally low prices, as Henry Lebowich has been fortunate in the purchase of 1,000 pairs of Ladies' Fall Sample Shoes and 250 pairs of Men's Shoes, all of which are Goodyear Welts and made in the latest lasts and of the best workmanship.

His two previous sales were so successful and the demand so great that he was compelled to purchase another line from a large eastern manufacturer to supply the demands of his trade. These shoes will be sold at one-half their original cost. The sale will commence on Saturday and continue until the entire sample line is disposed of.

There are many other valid legal objections to the petition to which no reference is here made which could be submitted to Mr. Edwards if they would be of any assistance to him in his deliberations as to the propriety of continuing in the contest.

Respectfully,

JOHN C. MCKENZIE.

GEIGER WILL CASE BROUGHT UP AGAIN

MRS. NELLIE GEIGER FILES BILL IN CHANCERY ASKING TRUSTEE.

CLAIMS THERE IS NO TRUSTEE

Asks That F. X. Newcomer be Appointed, Charging That Brother Has Not Given Her Her Share of Income.

Following the decision of the Illinois supreme court reversing a verdict found in the Lee county circuit court, setting aside the will of the late John L. Geiger of Nelson township and remanding the case for retrial here, Mrs. Nellie Geiger of Nebraska, a daughter of the late Mr. Geiger, through her solicitors, Wingert & Wingert, has filed a bill in chancery in the circuit court asking the appointment of a trustee, as provided in the will.

In her declaration, in which Annie F. Geiger, the widow, Thomas L. Geiger and Walter W. Geiger, sons, and A. C. Bardwell, executor of the will, are made defendants, Mrs. Geiger alleges the following:

John L. Geiger died August 13, 1908, and soon thereafter his will, which named A. C. Bardwell as trustee of the estate, was exhibited for probate, letters testamentary being issued to Mr. Bardwell Aug. 15, 1908. Under terms of the will Walter W. Geiger was to receive the net income of a part of the real estate, while the income from the balance was to be divided equally between Thomas L. and Nellie Geiger.

Bardwell Refused Trust.

The bill sets forth that Mr. Bardwell has never accepted the trusteeship of the estate as provided in the will, and that on Jan. 4, 1910, he submitted to the court a written renunciation of the office of trustee, and that there is now no person lawfully appointed to that place.

Mrs. Geiger further alleges that since the death of Mr. Geiger, her mother, Annie F. Geiger, has been in possession of and renting the premises assigned to her as her dower; that Walter has been in possession of and receiving the rents, issues and profits of the premises willed to him, and that Thomas L. Geiger has appropriated to himself the greater portion of the income from the premises assigned to him and Mrs. Geiger and that he has failed, neglected and refused to account to his sister for her full half of the said income. Mrs. Geiger petitions the court that F. X. Newcomer or some other responsible person be appointed trustee under the provisions of the will.

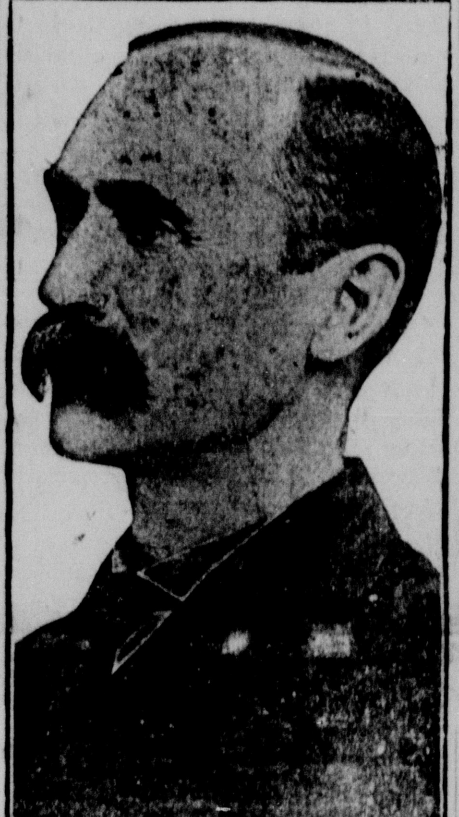

ILL. VOTERS LEAGUE ENDORSES TOURTILLOTT

LEE COUNTY'S REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE IS ONLY ONE ABSOLUTELY ENDORSED.

LEAGUE'S REPORT IS HONEST AND UNIMPEACHABLE

Legislative Voters' League of Illinois Says Major Tourtillot's Record Is First Class and That He Is Right Kind of Man to Send to the Legislature.

The report on the nominees for the 48th general assembly at the election Nov. 5, 1912, on all districts outside of Cook county, prepared and submitted to the voters by the Legislative Voters' League of Illinois has been sent to this office, and for the benefit of the voters in the county, the Telegraph publishes a complete report of the 35th district: De-

ALBERT T. TOURTILLOTT.

The only candidate for Representative from this District who is absolutely recommended by the Legislative Voters' League of Illinois.

Kalb, Lee and Whiteside counties: Tourtillot and Abbott are recommended but the league makes no choice between Devine and Hunt.

House—Republican.
Albert T. Tourtillot, Dixon, farmer. Has served one term in the house. His record is first class. He is the right kind of man to send to the legislature.

Alfred N. Abbott, Morrison, farmer. Has served three terms in the house, making a very fair record. He is a man of ability and good purpose but in the sharp clash of contending interests he is sometimes a trifle unsteady.

House—Democratic.

John P. Devine, Dixon, lawyer. Born in Lee County, Ill., 1878. Has held no public office. He is highly praised by some good citizens of his district, and condemned by others. His ability is admitted by all. He is blamed for being sponsor for former Representative Kannally (democrat) and endorsing Kannally's support of Lorimer for U. S. Senator. Otherwise he seems unobjectionable.

House—Progressive.

Roy D. Hunt, DeKalb, foundryman. Born in DeKalb in 1878. Thirty-four years in the district. Has never held public office. Young man of good character, well qualified for the office.

House—Prohibition.

Robert C. Adams, Erie, Good, clean capable man.

House—Socialist.

J. B. Stackpole, Dixon, wagon maker. Born in Dixon. Married. Three years in the district. Has never held public office. Does not appear to be especially fitted for legislative work.

The above is a true copy of the report, word for word, as it appears in the book gotten out by the Legislative Voters' League, the integrity and disinterestedness of which no one doubts. It will be seen that Albert T. Tourtillot of Dixon is the one and only man out of the six who are running for the legislature from this district who has ever held office that the league can absolutely recommend.

Major Tourtillot has been tried, and found not wanting.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN IS DYING

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION CANNOT LIVE UNTIL NIGHT, SAY DOCTORS.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 30—Special to the Telegraph—Vice President Sherman's condition is growing rapidly worse, and he is not expected to live until evening.

Mr. Sherman became unconscious this afternoon shortly after one o'clock and has not regained consciousness. The physicians in charge have no hope for his recovery.

FRED ERBES PASSED AWAY IN SUBLETTE

AGED AND HIGHLY RESPECTED
PIONEER WAS CALLED BEYOND.

Fred Erbes, an old and respected citizen of Lee county, died at his home in Sublette Tuesday night and will be buried in the Peterson cemetery Friday afternoon, Nov. 1. The funeral service will be held from the Baptist church at 2 p. m.

Mr. Erbes was 83 years of age and lived the greater part of his life in Lee county, in the vicinity of Sublette, making him one of the oldest settlers of the county. He was an extensive land owner and a most estimable citizen and his death is deplored by all who knew him.

He leaves three sons and two daughters of his immediate family.

TOO MANY VOTERS IN 1ST PRECINCT

MAY BE NECESSARY FOR RE-DIVISION OF DIXON INTO SEVEN PRECINCTS.

If all the voters who have registered in the First precinct in this township vote, or in fact if within 150 of the registered electors cast their ballots next Tuesday, the board of supervisors will probably be called upon to re-arrange the voting districts in Dixon township, giving seven polling places instead of six.

For the registration, completed by the judges of election yesterday, shows the names of 639 electors living in the precinct. The law provides that where over 450 votes are cast in any one precinct the precinct shall be divided and the registration in this district shows 159 electors above the required number.

Means Big Task.

And incidentally the judges and clerks for the First precinct are wondering when they will complete the counting and tabulating of votes in that district next Tuesday night, if anywhere near the number of registered electors vote during the day. The ballot this year is a big one and in addition to the regular electors ballot, containing the names of all candidates for offices, there is a woman's ballot, on which the fair sex will vote for trustees of the State university, and a small ballot submitting three questions of public policy.

Ordinarily the counting of 450 ballots is a big task, and the officials in the First precinct see an all-night's job awaiting them Tuesday, inasmuch as there will be a great deal of "scratching" at the coming general election.

Nearly 2,500 Registered.

The last registration books, those which were revised and completed yesterday, show that there are 2,470 voters registered in Dixon township. However, it is believed that a number of these names are repeaters and that the total number of electors will total about 2,350. The registry in the various precincts in the township is:

First 639
Second 380
Third 320
Fourth 365
Fifth 435
Sixth 331

Total 2,470

LOUNSBURY WILL TALK HERE TONIGHT

BIG REPUBLICAN RALLY IN OPERA HOUSE WILL BE LAST MEETING OF CAMPAIGN

JOHN H. BYERS WILL TALK

Popular Local Speaker to Be Heard as Well as Lounsbury This Evening—Marine Band Will Play—Chipfield Unable to Come.

Instead of Hon. B. M. Chipfield at the opera house this evening, the Dixon republican committee announces that Ralph R. Lounsbury of Chicago will address the voters of this vicinity on political issues of this campaign.

John H. Byers of this city, secretary to John C. McKenzie, has also been invited to make a few remarks which he has consented to do. This program is a strong one and whatever disappointment was occasioned by Mr. Chipfield's inability to be present has been more than compensated by the present arrangement.

Mr. Chipfield, upon returning to his home from a speaking tour night before last, found his home in great confusion and three physicians in attendance upon his daughter, who had been taken suddenly very ill, and it was necessary to rush her to St. Louis immediately. She now lies in the hospital in that city in a very critical condition. Sincere sympathy is extended to the grief-stricken father at this time. His trouble comes at a very inopportune time for the republican candidate for congressman-at-large, just at the close of the campaign. He will probably not be able to resume his speaking tour until Friday or Saturday, and not then unless his daughter's condition improves, and the chances are that he will be unable to get to Lee county before election. If he can possibly make it, the voters will get a chance to hear him.

Ralph R. Lounsbury is a Chicago lawyer, member of the firm of Wood & Lounsbury, offices in the Rookery building. He is sent here by the republican national committee which is sufficient proof of his ability.

Mr. Byers is a fellow citizen and well known, and can deliver a political speech that ranks with any of them, and he alone would draw a big crowd.

The Dixon Marine band will play a concert on the streets downtown this evening before the meeting, and will also entertain the crowds in the opera house later. Let everyone come and hear the republican side of the campaign issues for the last time this campaign. Ladies are especially invited.

MEET IN CITY HALL.

There will be a progressive meeting in the city hall in this city on Thursday evening of this week. Hon. C. D. Doud and Attorney John E. Erwin will be the speakers and all are invited.

After the inner man had been satisfied the host had a pleasant surprise in store for his guests. Mr. Vail has many fine pictures of England which he threw on the screen last evening and the guests enjoyed a stereopticon lecture, the beauty and rarity of the pictures and the entertaining and original remarks of Mr. Vail providing much thought food and enjoyment.

BOULEVARD LIGHTS MEET WITH FAVOR

MANY BUSINESS MEN ARE ANXIOUS FOR THE NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM.

The announcement made in last evening's Telegraph that the boulevard light question had been revived and that prospects were favorable for the installation of such a system in this city has brought about much comment, and it now seems probable that the plan will be adopted. The Illinois Utilities company is desirous of making Dixon a "sample" town of its output, as this city is headquarters for 38 cities and towns, and it is understood that they will make a special concession to secure the establishment of such a system here.

DIXON ATHLETES GO TO ROCHELLE

FOOTBALL TEAM THERE SATURDAY AND BROWNS PLAY THERE SUNDAY.

Dixon football and baseball teams will furnish the amusement for Rochelle fans Saturday and Sunday of this week, and the people there announce that they are going to give both teams a "warm" reception. The Dixon union high school team will take on the fast Rochelle football organization at that city Saturday, and the fact that Rochelle was contender for the state championship last year, with practically the same team, shows what the local boys will be up against. On Sunday the Dixon Browns, augmented by several league players, will take on the Rochelle Independents, who also are strengthened.

The Aid society of the Baptist church will hold a food sale all day Saturday, Nov. 2, at T. J. Miller's Music Store. 55 2

COMING OPERA HOUSE.

One of the earliest and most important theatrical offerings of the local season is A. G. Delamater's beautiful scenic production of "Freckles," a dramatization by Neil Twomey of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read novel of the same title.

OPERA HOUSE.

What the Chicago dramatic critic thinks of Moore's Lads and Lassies at the Wilson opera house, Chicago: "Menlo E. Moore's Lads and Lassies appear third and score the substantial hit of the show. Miss Dixie Harris appears and sings a little song inviting the 'kids' to her party. The quintet of youngsters, three boys and two girls, respond from the back of the house and, running up the aisles, join the little star on the stage. It is a well worked idea and the youngsters deserve great credit for the splendid start the act is given. The production has not been tinted in regard to costume and setting and Mr. Moore, who now has a half score of these big spectacular vaudeville acts on the road over the various big circuits, deserves high praise for his excellent efforts displayed in the offering of the Lads and Lassies. This act is a typical big-time feature act and a few more weeks will see it under way on one of the larger circuits. It's going to make good too."

A Clever Che-ild

The occasion was a choice tea party at a well known Dixon hostess' home, and the hostess was busy and beaming among her guests.

"Do you know," she asked, "that my little girl is very clever? She can imitate almost anyone."

Whereupon the guests wanted to be shown, and the little darling was asked to imitate the housemaid.

The girl, eager enough, came forward and howling to one of the guests, asked: "Will you take some more tea, madam?"

Then she turned to another guest, "May I move your chair, madam? The sunlight is very strong."

All of which interested the ladies greatly, and they asked for more.

Backing away from her father, Alice exclaimed, in a terrified tone:

"Sir, let me go. Don't you touch me, sir. Give you a kiss? Indeed! Supposing the missus were to hear you?"

Following which the clever little thing was suddenly wafted away.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

CONTRACT, 1912, BY MARCIN BARBER AND COMPANY

Ellnor did not know how much she had been spared by the consideration of the warden in assigning her to a tier of cells in which the more brutal inmates of the Tombs never were confined. She had had only a glance of the nether depths. Grave though the charge against her was, the good old man, whom an accident of politics had placed in control of the prison, had recognized from the first that she was of finer mould than anyone who had been entrusted to his custody in his whole term of office, and he had seen to it that her eyes and ears were not assaulted by the sights and scenes of the blacker depths.

Years passed, and Ellnor was a woman of much greater maturity ere she knew how much of misery she had escaped. The visit of Mrs. Missioner and Sands did Ellnor so much good that when they went away, it was with a lighter heart she returned to her cell, with renewed courage she steered herself to await the efforts of the good friends and the devoted lover she knew were working to clear her name of the faithful charge Donnelly and Carson had lodged against her.

Her confidence in Dr. Fitch was not misplaced, for in the short time when Mrs. Missioner in her limousine was speeding back to her home in Midway street Row, and Sands in a brougham, was returning to his office in the Bowling Green building, Fitch and Britz were standing on a Fourth Avenue corner a short distance north of Twenty-third Street, gazing with dismay at a twenty-story skyscraper that stood on the site of the little old curio shop to which duty had called the young ambulance surgeon years before.

"You are sure this is the place?" asked the detective.

"Absolutely," said the doctor. "I went over there to get some brandy for the old man when I was working him out of his stupor."

"Well," said the sleuth, "so far as that old curio shop is concerned, we're up against it, or what is worse, we are not up against it. We are confronted by this steel and stone monstrosity, and I guess there's no use wasting time making inquiries there; but there may be a few old-timers with memories along this block, and we'll see what we can find out. You take that side of the street, and I'll take this."

Britz and Fitch went into one shop after another, patiently repeating persistent inquiries as to what had become of the veteran curio dealer. Blank stares and equally blank answers were the result until Britz in a tiny tobacco shop that was the center of all the old-time places huddled together for protection against the encroachment of progress, unearthed a memory fragment in a man, who Fitch said might have been the twin brother of the amateur alchemist.

"Yes," said the man, "I remember him, and it's a funny thing to me that anybody who ever saw him could ever forget him. He was the queerest little old duck I ever ran across."

Britz thought if anyone could be queerer than the ancient tobaccoist he would have to step out of a page of Dickens.

The incarnate memory recalled that the curio dealer had been taken away a week or two before his shop was torn down to clear the ground for the foundation work of the great skyscraper. No, he didn't go away. He was taken away.

"Anything wrong with him?" asked Britz.

"Well, not exactly what you might call wrong, so to speak," quavered the old tobacco merchant. "I wouldn't go so far as to say there was anything you might exactly call wrong with him, but neither would I undertake to tell you that he was altogether what you might call right, and he touched his forehead significantly."

"Oh!" said Britz, "Ward's or Randall's?"

"Huh," said the old tobaccoist, "I don't know what you mean."

"Why," said the detective, "what I mean is did they take him to the Asylum or to the Workhouse?"

"I reckon it wouldn't have been any use to take him to the Workhouse," said the tobacco dealer, "because, so far as I know, he never done no work in all his life, and he was too old a dog to learn the habit by that time. No, I guess they took him to the other place; but what do you want to know for? Are you missing heirs?"

Britz and Fitch laughed.

"No," he said, "my friend here just wants to brush up an old acquaintance." When the two had bought enough cigars to recall faintly the dreams of prosperity that had inspired the old man's youth, they strolled to the Twenty-third street corner, where they jumped aboard a cross-town car that took them to the Island ferry.

CHAPTER XV.

At Ward's Island.

"It's rather a remarkable coincidence, I'll admit," said Britz to Fitch, as they stood on the deck of the little ferry boat that bore them toward the Island; "but it's possible your little old friend had something to do with the making of the imitation Maharajah diamond. You realize thoroughly, in sure, the importance of that link in our chain of evidence. It may be difficult to fasten the responsibility for manufacturing all the other fraudulent diamonds of the necklaces upon the guilty person, because diamonds of that size can be imitated in any one of several large cities; but the man who made the fake Maharajah is a past master of his craft: a man so skillful that even the most expert artificers of Europe and America do not pretend they can equal him."

"What makes you think the curio dealer had anything to do with it?" asked Fitch. "How could it be done? I thought the Maharajah was made quite recently."

"I don't know how long it's been," the detective replied. "It may have been only a few months, and the diamond, if it is possible, may have been copied any time within the past year. That big office building has been less than a year in construction, and it's well within the bounds of fact that the curio dealer received the commission for the work twelve months ago, or possibly more."

"Oh," said the physician, "there is one flaw in your theory. He was not a fakir. All the information I gleaned about him convinced me he was not engaged in the manufacture of bogus jewels. His grand purpose in life was to make real diamonds."

"Precisely," said Britz. "It is that fact, much more than anything else, that leads me to think he may be in the employ of the persons we are trailing. Doesn't it occur to you that the fake Maharajah, in order to deceive Mrs. Missioner and all her friends for so long a time, must have been such a beautiful piece of work that it could not have been intended as an imitation? In other words, didn't the man who made the imitation Maharajah believe he was manufacturing a genuine diamond?"

The little boat grated its nose against the Island pier, and the two investigators sprang ashore. As soon as they entered the asylum grounds, their positions were reversed. Fitch became the mentor, Britz the willing pupil, for in that abode of darkness reason were medical men whose hourly association with that phase of existence made them welcome gladly visitors from the outer world—especially members of their own profession. Fitch, as he ran up the steps of the visitors' entrance, was received royally in the office by three or four physicians and surgeons who had known him in his Bellevue days. There was no jealousy of his success among them. He had shot ahead of several of them, and he was pretty well understood among the Island doctors that Lawrence Fitch was rapidly forging to the fore as a fashionable physician. What was more important in their eyes was the fact that he had gained real distinction in his profession. Several minor but helpful discoveries of his had been recorded gratefully in the "Lancet," and more than once his name had been mentioned with flattering recognition at meetings of the County Medical Society.

Fitch was now in his element. He grasped warily the hands held out to him, clapped two or three of his closer cronies to the little group, and presented Britz to the Island group with a few words of introduction that won respect for the man from Mulberry Street.

His Pliant Hands Had Been Plunged Many Times Into a Dough-Like Lump

"Got a patient here, Larry?" they asked him jokingly.

"No," said Fitch, "not exactly a patient; but it's possible you have a case here I'm a little bit interested in." He recited the history of the curio dealer, with an urgent request that everything in connection with the old man be revealed to him. Britz, accustomed as he was to glean his facts tellingly, was unmistakably surprised by the readiness with which each of Fitch's friends promised aid, and hastened to put their promise into execution.

One of the younger doctors showed himself familiar with the old diamond maker's case, and seemed thoroughly to understand his delusion.

"He is now in my ward," he said. "He has been there six months; rather unusual case; harmless but hopeless. Can't rid himself of the idea that diamonds are banked up all around him, and that all he has to do is to make one with his own hands to possess the whole of that wealth in jewels. He does his best to make it, too. Unfortunately the ingredients he demands include several dangerous chemicals, and of course he cannot be trusted to go pounding away with a pestle and mortar when his brain is so far gone that he is likely to forget the combination."

The other medical men looked interested.

"What do you do with him, doctor?" asked Fitch.

"Oh, I substitute harmless things—a little bismuth and sodium phosphate, and a dash of French chalk, and he thinks he has everything he needs. All the stuff he wants that is not dangerous I let him have. He is happy enough mixing and mashing the paste and hammering away all day long. He rolls the mass into dirty little gray balls, and thinks they are diamonds."

"Let us have a look at him," said Fitch.

"Sure thing! You don't mind if I don't go with you? I have an amputation on in about ten minutes, and as there is a green nurse helping me, I don't want to take any chances in letting her monkey with the ether cone. So you won't mind, will you, if I ask you to run right along by yourself? Stay as long as you like."

Britz and Fitch were glad enough of an opportunity to question the old man without an auditor, and with a brief, "So long!" to his colleagues, the doctor piloted the detective through dreary stretches in that home of hopelessness to the ward where the curio dealer was found.

In a sunny corner of the long bleak room, the barrenness of which was relieved slightly by a few boxes and pots of geraniums and fuchsias on the window sill, seated at a bench covered with odd-looking leather, was the little old man the physician and the Headquarters sleuth sought.

In the patient's face was a rapt look that told them he was as far away from his present environment as if he had been in the little dingy curio shop where young Dr. Fitch first had seen him. His pliant hands had been plunged many times into a dough-like lump plastic as a sculptor's clay at one end of the bench. A row of jars at the back of the bench was flanked by a phalanx of vials. An earthen bowl half full of water stood at his right hand. Directly in front of him, scattered in workmanlike confusion, were several palette knives and mixing brushes. Ceaselessly his fingers plucked tiny pellets from the plastic lump, rolled and patted them, dipped them in the bowl of water, coated them with the many-colored contents of the vials and jars, then trundled them upon the board with industry purposeful of performance, but purposeless of achievement.

At times a spectral smile seemed to glow upon his cadaverous features—a faint gleam like the specter of a corpse-light. The sunlight, reflected from the rows of jars and bottles, played queer tricks with the contour of his face and gave his tireless hands a ghost-like appearance. He was a poor little shriveled remnant of a man, the dried core of what had been a dabbler in the occult, and which along normal channels might have been a distinguished scientist. No one looking at him could ever have pictured him as possessed of the greed of gain.

Britz, though he made no pretense of being a psychologist, comprehended at a glance the outer vision of the former curio shop proprietor conveyed little to his distraught scientific mind. Beyond doubt, the old man, as Fitch had said, had run the shop merely as a means to an end. Fitch and Britz stood looking at him for a few moments before he became aware of their presence. When at last he glanced up, a shade of perplexity flitted across his face; his fingers halted, but they did not stop in their studious task, and he looked at them inquiringly. With a slight shake of his head he apparently gave up the attempt to puzzle out their identity, and once more bent his eyes on the bench he firmly regarded as the threshold to Golconda.

"Guess you don't remember me, Mr. Martin," said the doctor. The old man appeared not to hear. Britz and Fitch exchanged glances, and the detective took up the attempt to awaken a response from the aged inmate's mental vacuum.

"Pretty busy man, eh?" said Britz.

He had touched the right chord. Any reference to the industry that absorbed his fading senses was sure to arouse the intelligence of the old curio dealer. He nodded briskly, and went on with his work more zealously than before.

"Got to finish a contract on time?" the Headquarters man pursued.

Another vigorous little nod, followed by a swift search of the detective's face on the part of the old man's sunken eyes.

"Rather interesting work you're doing," pursued the detective.

Thereupon Mr. Martin rejoined: "It is the only work that can interest me. I have given my life to it."

"Find it profitable?" inquired the sleuth.

For an instant those gray fingers paused in their manipulation of the clay pellets.

"Well, it depends on what you call profitable, young man," answered the ward of the State. "There are things more important than monetary gain."

"Oh, yes, I know, I know," said the detective hastily. "I suppose your work is purely scientific?"

"It is more than science," answered Martin. "It is art, philosophy, philanthropy—everything. It is the crystallization of the beautiful. Love is beauty, and beauty is life. All mankind needs is beauty in greater measure and higher degree to attain perfection of happiness."

"I have made diamonds, yes," he said in response to a query from the detective, swift and searching as a rapier thrust, "beautiful enough to hang about the neck of a princess; brilliant enough to glorify the hut of a toiler in the fields; but there was one—ah!" His recollection revealed in widening circles until its force was spent. For a long time, his hands motionless again, he sat gazing into the past. Britz, feeling that he was on the edge of an important disclosure, waited patiently. Fitch scarcely breathed.

SOME REPUBLICAN FACTS
Business never better.
Wages never higher.
Factories running full time.
Railroads crowded with traffic.
Labor in demand.
Bank deposits increasing.
Everybody busy and hopeful.
Why Change When All's Well?
SOME DEMOCRATIC FACTS
Bread lines a mile long.
Soup houses everywhere.
Banks mostly busted.
Three million men idle.
Ten million children hungry.
Homes plastered with mortgages.
Nobody making any money.
Why Have Hard Times Again?

"NO PATCHES ON MY PANTS."
Oh, yes; I've heard about the trusts,
Of how I'm being "done,"
Of how the wicked tariff, too,
Is "robbing" every one.
But I am working ev'ry day,
And maybe you, perchance,
Have noticed that I haven't got
A patch upon my pants!

They tell me that I am a "slave"
Of "plutocratic" rule;
That I should vote for Wilson and
The party of the mule;
That he will rip the tariff up
And on the pieces dance;
But please observe, I do not wear
A patch upon my pants.

Once I was led astray; I think
It was in ninety-two,
When Cleveland ran for president,
I shouted for him, too;
Thought there'd be work for every one,
And wages would advance.
He was elected and I wore
Big patches on my pants.

I lost my job and couldn't get Another thing to do;
I walked the street and everywhere
Soup houses met my view;
And there were thousands, just like me,
All fighting for a chance
To earn their bread, and ev'ry man
Wore patches on his pants.

I will not vote for Wilson, no;
With him I don't agree;
As for his party, well, kind sir,
Once was enough for me.
I've steady work, I have good pay
And you may note, perchance,
I'm wearing creases now instead
Of patches on my pants!

COUNCIL SUSTAINS DOCTORS' ACTION

COMMISSION OF PHYSICIANS AND POLICE WILL ENFORCE SAN-ITARY CONDITIONS.

QUARRANTINE AND FUMAGATE

North Side Schools Will Be Closed
This Week and All Precautions Taken to Prevent Spread of Scarlet Fever.

RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED BY THE COUNCIL.

To the Council of the City of Dixon:
The suggestions of the majority of the physicians of Dixon on the scarlet fever situation as follows:
1. Rigid enforcement of the quarantine regulations.
2. Notification of city health authorities by superintendents of both schools of all absentees, or any form of indisposition arising in their schools.
3. Closure, during present week, of North Side schools for the proper fumigation and disinfection of the buildings.
4. The appointment of a committee of three physicians with authority to enforce needful sanitary regulations, acting through the police and health department.

The city council at its special meeting last evening took active steps to stop the spreading of scarlet fever in North Dixon, and as was forecasted in the Telegraph last evening, the Dixon schools were ordered closed for the rest of the week, during which time the buildings will be thoroughly fumigated.

Dr. E. B. Owens, representing the committee of four physicians appointed by the council at Monday night's meeting, submitted his report for the council last evening and at the conclusion of the report submitted recommendations above set forth, which were concurred in by the commission.

To Fumigate Buildings.

The closing of the North Dixon schools, which was ordered by the physicians and the council, is merely for the proper and thorough disinfection of the buildings. The doctors feel that after this is done it is better that the schools be opened in order that a quick line can be secured on all cases of the fever, for superintendents will be required to report all cases of absence at once, in which case the physicians and authorities will at once quarantine cases of scarlet fever.

The situation is in no way alarming at present, and it is thought the present timely action will prevent an epidemic of the dread malady. In accordance with the provisions of the recommendations, Drs. LeSage, Bokhof and Stevenson are appointed a committee to enforce proper sanitary regulations, and in order that their work may be effective they have been given police power by the council, with the power to arrest anyone who fails to comply with their orders in the matter.

Will Stop Some Things.

The outbreak of scarlet fever has caused considerable discussion by the doctors and city authorities as to the probable origin of the disease and it is agreed that the sale of second-hand school books, and "rummage sales" should be stopped. In all probability the council will take some action in these matters within a few weeks.

MRS. CLEVELAND TO WED SCHOLAR

Widow of Former President to Marry Professor Thomas Preston.

DATE OF EVENT NOT YET FIXED

Lady Gives Out Statement Announcing the Engagement—Friends of Both Consider Approaching
Union Ideal.

New York, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Grover
Cleveland, widow of the former president of the United States, is to be married next April to Prof. Thomas Preston, an honorary professor at Princeton university and now occupying the chair of archaeology at Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., the institution attended by Mrs. Cleveland, then, Frances Folsom.

The second romance of the woman who, as "the bride of the White House," charmed a nation, and whose high character and devotion to her distinguished husband have been, by example, a national influence towards high ideals of wifehood, is the outcome of an acquaintanceship of little more than a year's duration.

Professor Preston a Scholar.

Professor Preston, who is about fifty years of age, a literary scholar and a linguist of international distinction, is a man of strong but retiring personality and, although he has held a high place among the faculty of Princeton for years, it is said that his first meeting with Mrs. Cleveland took place not many months ago.

Thereafter he became a frequent visitor at the Cleveland home in Princeton, and undoubtedly Mrs.
Cleveland's ardent interest in education fostered the first bond of sympathy that grew into stronger attachment and has resulted in the most interesting announcement of a betrothal since the world heard that the beautiful Frances Folsom was to be married to the nation's chief in the stately halls of the White House.

Engagement Is Announced.

Mrs. Cleveland gave out the following statement:

"Mrs. Grover Cleveland authorizes the announcement of her engagement to Thomas Jes Preston, professor of archaeology and history of arts at Wells college. The date of the marriage is not yet determined, but will be announced later."

She declined to say anything fur- ther concerning the matter.

Was White House Bride.

Before her marriage to Mr. Cleveland Miss Frances Folsom was one of the most charming personalities in Buffalo society. She was born in Buffalo, and her father, Oscar Folsom, was a law partner of Mr. Cleveland.
When Miss Folsom returned from her schooling at Wells college in Aurora, Mr. Cleveland was campaigning for the presidential chair. After he had won, the engagement was announced and the marriage took place in the White House. It was the most notable social event in half a century.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. Four are now living.
They are Esther, Marion, Richard Folsom and Frances Folsom.

Since the death of Mr. Cleveland on June 24, 1908, his widow has lived a life of retirement, except for her active work on educational and philanthropical lines. She has devoted most of her time to her children.

Marriage Considered Ideal.

The friends of Mrs. Cleveland and the professor look upon the forthcoming marriage as ideal. Deep sympathies, mutual interests and kindred aims for beneficial work in the world forecast happiness for the union of the scholar and the woman who, in lofty station as in the quiet of her home, has exemplified the highest qualities.

Professor Preston occupies the chair of archaeology at Wells. In 1910 he received the degree of doctor of philosophy from Princeton university. He has traveled widely and speaks many languages.

No definite plans for the ceremony have been settled. The coming out of her eldest daughter, Miss Esther, will occupy the attention of her mother for the next few weeks.

The Color Value of Artificial Light

ALL light is produced by heating some substance to some degree of incandescence. And in each light, though all colors of the spectrum are present, one color dominates and produces the visual effect. As the light of which closely approximates sunlight is the most valuable for all round purposes. You have it in the

FORAGE RATIONS FOR GROWING HORSES

The Nebraska Agriculture Experiment Station has just issued Bulletin 130, with the above title. The bulletin gives the results of growing three lots of 10 colts each from weaning time until January 14 of the winter after they became three years old, on different pasture and forage rations. Lot one ate alfalfa hay during the winter and grazed on alfalfa pasture during the summer. Lot two ate alfalfa hay during the winter and grazed on native grass pasture during the summer. Lot three ate prairie hay and cane hay during the winter and grazed on native grass pasture during the summer. Each lot was fed grain during the first winter. Lot three was fed grain during the second winter also. During the third summer all lots were given the same feed, and the colts were all worked some. The gain on alfalfa pasture during the first summer was more than twice as much as on the native grass pasture, but during the second summer the colts that did not have alfalfa at any time (lot 3) gained more on the native grass pasture than the colts in lot one gained on alfalfa pasture.

During the first winter the gain of the colts fed alfalfa hay was about 50 per cent more than those not fed alfalfa hay. After the first year the rate of gain depended very largely on the condition of flesh of the colts at the beginning of the period under consideration. The colts fed prairie hay and cane hay in the winter made a faster gain during the summer than those which had been fed alfalfa during the winter. Also the colts that grazed on native grass pasture during the summer made more gain during the winter when fed alfalfa than the colts that grazed on alfalfa pasture in the summer and were fed alfalfa in the winter. This may be explained by the fact that an animal thin in flesh will gain faster when given good conditions than an animal already in good flesh.

The author concludes that it was not profitable to pasture the alfalfa, at least during the first summer, under the conditions prevailing at North Platte. Under certain conditions it may be profitable to pasture alfalfa. Feeding alfalfa hay during the summer was profitable.—Illinois Farmers' Institute, Springfield, Illinois.

EXPRESSES VIEWS ON POLITICS Harmon, Oct. 29, 1912.

Editor Telegraph:
In the present unparalleled prosperous condition of the country, with wage earners receiving over five billion dollars yearly in their pay envelopes, and a yearly output of manufactured products more than equal in value to that of every railroad in the United States, and practically a home market for all of it as well as farm products—less than 5 per cent being exported—and a farmers' record crop ready for that self same home market, which means a continuation of the remunerative prices for one and all, it is certainly almost incredible, under such conditions, that any one, especially farmers, would vote for a change. The vital question is: Shall we trade off our first right as American

BURTON HOLMES AT PANAMA.

So great has been the popularity of his Travelogue on "The Panama and Suez Canals," Burton Holmes has concluded to give two Special Extra Travelogues on this subject, at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, on the two Sunday afternoons of Nov. 23rd and 24th, at 3:30 o'clock. Last Spring Mr. Holmes made a special journey to the Panama Canal Zone, returning with the most comprehensive still and motion picture negatives ever made by any one person. In motion pictures he shows the giant steam shovels slowly but surely eating their way from ocean to ocean, the living rock being drilled, in immense cranes lifting whole sections of track and carefully re-laying it, concrete mixers at work, scrapers which will empty an entire train at one time, unloading, filling in and levelling; and many of the specially designed machines for laying the concrete which is going into this, the greatest monolith creation known to the world.

Other motion pictures take the passengers by train through the bottom of the Culebra Cut—also bring them from Colon to the Gatun Locks, while numerous colored plans and drawings will make this greatest of engineering feats comprehended by even the school children, who are naturally interested in this stupendous undertaking of Uncle Sam.

Featherweight Champion Knocks Out Tommy Dugan in Fourth Round.

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 30.—In one of the prettiest and most vicious bouts ever seen in this city, Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world, knocked out Tommy Dugan of California in the fourth round here. Honors were even and fast in the first round. Kilbane had the best of the second round, which was also fast. Honors were even in the third round and with both men working hard and fast in the fourth Kilbane shot his left to the jaw and Dugan went down for the count.

If Woodrow Wilson is elected—and it will be either Taft or Wilson, for Roosevelt cannot possibly be chosen—every manufacturer and business man with know on the morning of November 6 that the tariff will be radically changed.

There will then ensue many months of anxious waiting, during which time business men will curtail their working force and husband their resources against the blow that is sure to fall. When the new tariff law is enacted, orders will be abroad for immense quantities of goods. The withdrawal of orders from American factories will cause every plant to shut down, force millions of men into idleness and line the side tracks with empty cars.

In order to pay the bills of the foreign manufacturers, millions of dollars of American gold will have to be sent abroad. This will deplete the bank reserves, with consequent calling of loans and the sacrificing of securities in order to raise ready money. This means commercial and financial panic.

The prosperity of 1892 faded away in less than two years of democratic administration under the Wilson tariff law. The prosperity of 1912, the climax of 16 years of republican administration, will also disappear if the democratic party comes into power.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestine and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 1-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

CLEANSE YOUR LIVER AND BOWELS WITH DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Removes the Sour Bile, Gases and Clogged-up Waste Without Griping or Nausea—No Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness or Coated Tongue.

Foul breath, coated tongue, dull, throbbing headache, stomach sour and full of gases, indigestion, biliousness and a sallow complexion, mean that your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with waste matter; that these drainage organs are obstructed; liver stagnant and stomach full of poisonous gases, sour bile and undigested, fermenting food not properly carried off.

Most of our ills are caused by constipated bowels. We all need a laxative sometimes; nobody can doubt that. The only question is, Which one is the best? and that isn't a question any more. Syrup of Figs, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, must act in a harmless, gentle and natural way. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without injury. Its action

BLOTCHES ON FACE DRY AND SCALY

Eczema Began in Hair. Spread to Face, Came on Hand and All Over Fingers. Itching Terrible. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

295 Kanter Ave., Detroit, Mich.—"Some time last summer I was taken with eczema. It began in my hair first with red blotches then scaly, spreading to my face. The blotches were red on my face, dry and scaly, not large, on my scalp they were larger, some scabby. They came on my hands. The inside of my hands were all little lumps as though full of shot about one-sixteenth of an inch under the skin. Then they went to the outside and between and all over my fingers. It also began on the bottoms of my feet and the calves of my legs, and itch, oh, My! I never had anything like it and hope I never will again. The itching was terrible. My hands got so I could scarcely work.

"I tried different eczema ointments but without results. I also took medicine for it but it did no good. I saw the advertisement for a sample of Cuticura Ointment and Soap and sent for one. They did me so much good I bought some more using them as per directions and in about three weeks I was well again. Cuticura Soap and Ointment entirely cured me." (Signed) Benj. Passage, Apr. 8, 1912.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap (25c) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c) are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

CARUSO WINS HIS SUIT

Famous Operatic Tenor Successful in Defamation Case.

Signorina Giachetti and Others Found Guilty and Receive Varying Sentences From Milan Court.

Milan, Oct. 30.—Enrico Caruso's suit against Signorina Giachetti, his former sweetheart and others, charging defamation of character, was concluded before a crowd that overflowed the courtroom here. All the defendants were found guilty.

The court sentenced Signorina Giachetti, a prima donna now singing in Buenos Ayres, to a year's imprisonment and to pay a fine of 100 francs ($20).

Romati, a chauffeur, who supplanted Caruso in Giachetti's affections and played a prominent part in the case, was found guilty of information of perjury and condemned to eleven months imprisonment and deprivation of his civil rights.

Loria, a theatrical agent, was also found guilty of information of perjury and sentenced to nine months' imprisonment and the loss of his civil rights. Another defendant was ordered to jail for four months.

Caruso was in court and in high feather, although the defendants' lawyers lashed him verbally and pictured his moral character in blackest dye.

Romati is in Buenos Ayres. Like Signorina Giachetti, he will appeal from the court's decision.

WOMAN KILLED BY ROBBERS

Charred Remains of Mrs. Ellen Cullinder, an Aged Recluse, Uncovered in Ruins of Home—Rope Found Around Neck.

Warsaw, Oct. 30.—With a partly burned rope around her neck the charred remains of Mrs. Ellen Cullinder, aged seventy-two, were found in the ruins of her home five miles south of this place. That the aged woman had been murdered by strangulation before the house was set on fire was the verdict of the coroner's jury. Robbery is supposed to have been the motive. Mrs. Cullinder for years had been regarded as a recluse, living alone on her farm, and very little is known of her actions. She was married many years ago, but her husband obtained a divorce on account of her peculiarities. She was eccentric, and while not wealthy, she always kept her savings in her home, having a distrust for banks.

Calls Tax Collection Small.

Springfield, Oct. 30.—Illinois revenue for state purposes is only 32 percent of the revenue raised in New York for the same purposes, despite the fact that Illinois has a population equal to 61 percent of that of New York. This condition is due to antiquated and unenforceable tax laws, according to a bulletin about to be issued by the Civic Federation of Chicago. The booklet reprints the findings of the Illinois special tax commission. The federation seeks the classification of property in such a way as to secure adequate tax reform.

MONARCH METAL Weather Strips

Do not think of the Monarch Metal Weather Strips as a luxury to be put on as something extra when you can afford it. You cannot afford to be without them. Read this carefully.

Every window and door in your house—in everybody's house—that is not weather stripped, has cracks between the sash and the frame, which is usually about 1-16 inch to make the sash operate properly under all conditions. It has been proven conclusively that with a wind velocity of 15 miles per hour, this crevice will admit 145 cubic feet of air per hour for every linear foot of length. (See Engineering Review of March, 1911.) This means nearly 3,000 cubic feet of air per hour on a double hung window of average size.

With greater velocity of wind, this amount is proportionately increased.

This means cold air, dirt, soot. It may mean frozen water pipes. It does mean drudgery of endless cleaning and dusting, which can be remedied with the

MONARCH METAL WEATHER STRIPS

These strips also stop all rattling of windows, and the windows will always be easy to operate, and there will be no sticking.

There are many kinds of weather strips, from the old rubber-edged kind, whose life lasts about a year, to the sharp-edged metal type that cuts the hands, sash cords, etc., and requires deep grooves in the sash for its installation.

The PERFECT type is the MONARCH METAL WEATHER STRIP. It consists of two sliding tubes, a tube within a tube. This ingenious interlocking shape makes the strip absolutely weather-tight.

A test made of a double-hung sash, 36x36, fitted 1-16 play all around, with the wind at a velocity of thirty-five miles an hour, allowed a leakage of 109.98 cubic feet of air per minute. Equipped with the Monarch Metal Weather Strip, the leakage was reduced to 3.36 cubic feet of air per minute, 25 per cent more efficient than any other.

Sides, top and sill strip are made of zinc, and the interlocking strip at the meeting rail is made of copper and bronze.

They are applied to any windows or doors, old or new, by experienced mechanics, and are guaranteed unconditionally, for wear and repair, to outlast the frames to which they are attached.

The following buildings are a ready equipped with the Monarch Metal Weather Strips:

The Elks' Club.
Bovey Building.
South Side High School.
W. J. McAlpine Residence.

CRUCIAL BATTLE OF WAR RAGING

Turks, Under Command of Nazim Pasha, Engage Main Bulgarian Army.

300,000 TROOPS ARE ENGAGED

Fighting Line Extends Over One Hundred Miles—Sultan's Soldiers So Far Have Steadily Pressed the Bulgarian Forces Back.

Constantinople, Oct. 30.—Nazim Pasha, minister of war and commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, has advised the government in a telegram from the front that the main Turkish army which occupied a position near Demotika during the battles of Kirk-Kilissee and Adrianople, has engaged the main Bulgarian army and the crucial battle of the war is in progress.

According to the minister's telegram the battle is raging along the entire front, which extends over a hundred miles, and so far the Turks have steadily pressed the Bulgarians back.

The Turkish army numbers 150,000 men and the Bulgarian forces are composed of fully that many troops.

War in Balkans Near Its Climax.

London, Oct. 30.—The beginning of the end of the great Balkan war drama is being played and to a climax, the military critics agree, that will mean overwhelming defeat and humiliation for the armies of the sultan.

All day the main divisions of the federated Balkan armies have been wheeling into position for three battles, victories in which will bring to a successful conclusion the tremendous enveloping campaign and bring the troops of the rebellious states to the gates of Constantinople and Salonika, where only impoverished defenses remain.

Pitch Battles Hourly Expected.

These battles are expected hourly, according to dispatches from the war centers. The Bulgarians are marching down the Erskene river to attack the main Turkish army between Eski-Baba and Lule Burgas; the Servians are about to attack the Turks at Veles, or Kuppri, the capture of which will give them a clear path to Monastir, the most important post in Macedonia and the main Greek force, only 90 miles south of the Serbian divisions, is approaching Janina with the object of securing control of the entire southwestern portion of the sultan's dominions in Europe.

The sultan, whose troops, besides being hemmed in on all sides, are badly demoralized, holds uninvaded and completely under his control only a strip of territory varying from forty to fifty miles wide, along the Turkish south coast from the Bosphorus to the west coast of the Gulf of Salonika.

Scutari Still Unconquered.

The only Turkish resistance of importance is being made at Scutari, where the Montenegrins are fighting desperately to dislodge the Turkish garrison. Much cavalry has been destroyed by fire but the Turks are holding out with fanatical determination.

The most important victory was that at Tripotamus, a Turkish town which was occupied by the Greeks on the way to Ferris. The Greeks first occupied the city of Castonia and the Fifth Turkish division occupied the town of Grevena.

The main Greek force in consequence is threatening Verria, or Kara Feria, fifty miles due north from the Turko-Greek frontier and on the railroad connecting Salonika and Monastir. The Greek front extends seventy miles, reaching into Turkish territory in wedge shape with the point at Tripotamus and the extremities of the two wings at Katerina, on the coast, where a landing was effected shortly after the outbreak of the war, and at Grevena, captured today.

ARREST CONSUL IN MEXICO

U. S. May Take Hand If Belgium's Agent at Merida Is Not Freed.

Washington, Oct. 30.—International complications may follow the action of the Mexican government in arresting the Belgian consul at Merida, Yucatan, which was reported to the state department. There is no explanation of the arrest. Unless he is promptly released the Belgian government will cause an inquiry. Officials here expect the state department may be requested by the Belgian government to look into the affair through the agency of the American consul at Merida.

Rockefeller Has Unique Phone.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 30.—John D. Rockefeller is having a unique telephone system installed in his million dollar mansion at Pocantico Hills and when it is ready for operation he will be his own "hello boy." The system is intercommunicating and will have 32 extensions.

To Chew Forty Kinds of Tobacco.

Washington, Oct. 30.—For the next six weeks, 125 enlisted men in the New York navy yard will be busy chewing 40 kinds of tobacco to decide which kind shall be bought for use in the navy.

HOCKIN IS AGAIN HIT

WITNESS SAYS HE VOLUNTARILY GAVE UP LETTERS.

Declares That Alleged Dynamiter Turned Over Hundreds of Them to the Government.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30.—Herbert S. Hockin, accused of being a dynamiter equally guilty with the McNamara brothers, was again charged by a witness at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial with secretly having given evidence to the government.

Charles E. Freeman, a public accountant, testified that during the federal grand jury investigation of alleged illegal shipment of explosives, Hockin voluntarily turned over hundreds of letters taken from J. J. McNamara's office.

Hockin, as acting secretary of the Iron Workers' union, was in charge of the office in the absence of President Frank P. Ryan.

Testimony corroborating that of Jacob B. Scott of Cleveland a few days ago that Charles Wachtmeister of Detroit, one of the defendants, had told Scott a few days before the Von Spreckelsen explosions, that Scott had better take his men and get out of Indianapolis or the "whole joint" would be blown up, was also introduced by the government.

Evidence was introduced concerning J. B. McNamara's visit to Seattle, where he dynamited the Lyons building and evidence concerning several different dynamiting "jobs" which the government charges was a part of the general plan of the conspiracy to wreck the work of companies with which it was at war.

URGE ANGLO-GERMAN PEACE

Leading Statesmen of the Two Countries Begin an Important Conference in London.

London, Oct. 30.—The three day Anglo-German conference, one of the most important international meetings of the year, convened here today with Sir Francis Lascelles presiding. The president, who was formerly British ambassador to Germany, in his opening speech set forth the object of the conference as "to discuss ideas for the promotion of friendly relations between England and Germany."

Leading statesmen of both countries took part in the discussions. All the English and German societies for promoting international peace were represented.

LAUNCH BIG WARSHIP

President Taft Present at Launching of the New York.Miss Elsie Calder Christens Big Dreadnaught—Many Distinguished People Present.

New York, Oct. 30.—President Taft, Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Governor Dix and a large number of other notable personages today witnessed the launching of the battleship New York and joined with the thousands of other spectators in cheering when Miss Elsie Calder, daughter of Congressman Calder of Brooklyn, smashed a bottle of wine on the bows of the great vessel and christened it as it slid down the ways into the water. The flower girl was Kathleen, the little daughter of Congressman Fitzgerald of Brooklyn. The Brooklyn navy yard was elaborately decorated with flags and bunting and the occasion was made quite a social event.

The New York is a sister ship to the battleship Texas, which was launched at Newport News a few months ago. Like the Texas, she will have an armament of fourteen inch guns. Ten guns of this size will be carried in the main battery. She will also have 21 five-inch guns along her sides.

The New York will be about 1,000 tons larger in displacement than the Wyoming and the Arkansas, the present largest ships of the navy, and about 5,000 tons larger than the Florida. She is 573 feet long, with 95 feet beam and a draught of 28.5 feet. She will cost when finished about $6,000,000. The ship's keel was laid on September 11, 1911, and she is about sixty per cent completed. When ready for sea she will be equipped with engines capable of generating 28,100 horsepower, which are expected to drive her at the rate of 20½ knots an hour.

EXCEPTIONAL CHILD TALKS

Association for the Study of Sick
Children Opens Session.

New York, Oct. 30.—Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, presided today over the opening session of the meeting of the Association for the Study of Exceptional Children, and in his address told what the society has done and hopes to do in the coming year. Doctor Claxton said it was not only the feeble-minded and degenerate child that needs special attention in our schools, but the handicapped normal child as well. The significance of the problem, he said, lies in the fact that there are far more exceptional children of this type than there are of the class of real defectives and degenerates.
